

Golf Centre Newsletter – SUMMER 2010

SUMMER IS HERE!

We are pleased to see that our Summer has finally arrived this year, especially after the terrible winter months we had. The sun has been kind to us so far at Kingsfield, but believe it or not we would like a wee drop rain every now and again just to help the grass establish while it is still so young. So just remember on those first wet days in the summer when you wish it wasn't raining, the green keepers and staff at Kingsfield will be quietly happy!

Visitors to the centre.

On Wednesday 2nd June Kingsfield Golf Centre welcomed along two of Scotland rugby teams star players, Dan Parks and Chris Cussiter who arrived at Kingsfield for 9 holes of golf after their morning training session. After a quick bite to eat for lunch the guys got to be the first to use our trial clubs, which Taylormade have given for customer use. After the round, which Dan won on the last hole they came back in to the centre and Ian Fraser, the Performance Centre specialist, showed them the very new and impressive TaylorMade Performance Centre. They were both very pleased with what they saw and how things worked. (to learn more about the performance centre see the article in this newsletter).

Fund Raiser for Leukaemia Research

On Friday 14th and Saturday 15th of May two of our teaching professionals held a charity coaching session. Customers were able to book 20 minutes of time through out the day and get a free lesson in our GASP tuition bay under the watchful eye of Gary Nicol or David Burns. All that was asked from the customers was that after their 20 minute session they put a cash donation into the collection bucket. The 2 days proved to be very successful and at the end of Saturday the grand total of £810.00 had been raised. This was achieved from the 2 days coaching, along with a donation from the Tee Caddy who contributed £150.00 from the months tips to the guys collection. The ladies in the coffee shop put all tips to charity and decided to put that months tips towards Gary and David's total. Well done to the guys for their efforts on the day and a big THANK YOU to all those who took part and donated on the day!

TaylorMade Performance Centre @ Kingsfield!

BBC Scotland's main sports anchorman, Dougie Donnelly, was at Kingsfield Golf Centre this week to officially open the new TaylorMade Performance Centre. This is the first of its type in Scotland and TaylorMade Adidas Golf, one of the world leading golf equipment manufacturers, is delighted to partner with Kingsfield in this exciting new venture. Golfers will be professionally custom fitted for clubs by professionally trained TaylorMade technicians and initially the service will operate every Wednesday and Thursday between 9am and 8pm.

In order to book a fitting, golfers must go to their local official TaylorMade stockist who will organise the fitting with Kingsfield's customer service staff. The personal fitting specification will then be e-mailed back to the retailer so that he can discuss purchase options with the customer.

Managing Director, Robert Arkley is very happy that such a major player in the golf world has chosen to set up their Scottish Performance Centre at Kingsfield 'Our absolute commitment to providing a top quality service was a significant factor in TaylorMade's decision and we are confident that all customers who go through the club fitting process will be delighted with the experience'.

For more details of the TaylorMade Performance Centre at Kingsfield, please pick up a leaflet in reception, call us on 01506 671607 or visit our web site www.kingsfieldgolf.com.
